DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 6-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 6 recites the limitation "said hole" in line 5. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 7 recites the limitation "said opening of each said hole" in line 5. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

In claim 8, welding is a metal making term; however, metals are not disclosed – making this claim indefinite and unclear.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hammer et al., USP 4,842,627 in view of Laver et al. US 2005/0067729 A1.

The cited primary reference substantially teaches the basic claimed process of providing a wood core within a molding cavity, and encapsulating the core in plastic molding material. A wood core 258 is positioned within a molding cavity of mold halves 264, 266. The core 258 is positioned within the mold by the use of positioning pins 268, and plastic material is supplied to the mold and encapsulates the core. See col. 9, lines 1-50.

The cited primary reference does not teach the use of a foaming material or the use of nitrogen as claimed.

The added secondary reference teaches as conventional the molding of low density wood/foam composites wherein the addition of the foaming material comprises providing a filled foaming material and a gas, and pressurizing the mixture to create a foam-like molded composite product. See paragraphs [0036, 0037, 0039, 0051].

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to include foaming materials as disclosed in the added reference, when performing the process set forth in the primary reference, for making a low density product.

With respect to claim 4, note that the use of positioning means is demonstrated in the cited primary reference at col. 9, lines 15-25. Note that such use of the positioning means also requires holes for engagement; the provision of holes is deemed shown in figure 15, and would have been obvious to achieve the disclosed positioning step.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. USP's 3074112; 4115507 to show claimed pin shape; 4381908; 4957677; 5104597; 5714106; 6093358; 6183681; 6579485.
